Simple in habits the people of Nalumavadi had only limited wants most people were happy with asustere opportunities and convenience. Caste rules though scrupulously observed as of old there were hardly few occasions time – honored popular rights were denied. They praised this dearly and permitted nobody to tamper with them.

The reforms introduced by the veluthampi regarding agriculture were remarkable. Attention was given to the promotion of education in Nalumavadi. As a result the development agriculture and education was remarkable while choosing Nalumavadi as a village for my investigation.
